

The Sequim Community Orchestra is an educational resource that fulfills a need in the larger Sequim community for students and adults to experience the joy of making music together. We provide orchestral skills training, including following a conductor, counting, listening and performing for the public to beginning and intermediate players, all instruments, all ages.

We perform for the community twice a year; smaller groups perform at community events.

Our vision is to expand our educational outreach to school-age children with the establishment of string instrumental classes for children.

New members are always welcome. No audition is required. Under the direction of Phil Morgan-Ellis, we meet weekly in Sequim.

Rehearsals: Tuesdays, 7pm - 9pm through the end of June.

Where: James Center for Performing Arts, 202 N Blake Ave, Sequim.
